

Surname Index

The History of the County of Bruce

Norman Robertson, author of the History

The Bruce County Historical Society

Why a new Index?

Even the most casual reader feels frustrated when attempting to use the index that accompanies Norman Robertson's masterpiece, The History of the County of Bruce, first published in 1906.

No one questions the scholarship of Robertson's History. It has been a publishing success story. It had its fourth printing in 1988. But, readers often complained, that index!

In 1979, a group of members of the Bruce County Historical Society tackled one part of the problem, the lack of surnames in the index. The work of collecting all the surnames in the history was divided among a dozen or more committee members. They then read through the volume, thereby creating a master list.

Alas, publication was not meant to be. The report – more than 50 pages of single-spaced family names – was deposited in the Society's files in the nether regions of the Bruce County Museum & Archives. Here it remained, unseen and unused, until 1998 when it was discovered by Vicky Cooper of the Museum staff.

It is this report that forms the basis for this booklet. The committee's report has since been checked against the Robertson text by John Weichel, who then retyped it and prepared it for publication.

Robertson's original index contained roughly 295 surnames. The booklet produced here contains an estimated 1,600 to 1,700 surnames!

Members of the 1979 committee of workers, we learn, were: Mrs. A. W. Allen, E. L. Campbell, Camilla Coumans, Melinda Coumans, Mrs. Hilda Downey, Mary Elliott, Mary Lou Falconer, Margaret Ferris, Mrs. Anne Kastner, Florence MacDonald, Mrs. McIntrye, M. MacKenzie, Mrs. Morrison, and "other members of the Bruce County Historical Society."

One word of caution: Although an attempt has been made to distinguish between people with the same name, this has not always been possible. Where there is more than one reference to a person, it may not be the same person in every case.
